MRS. C. W. CHAMBERLIN
Starts and Art St., Springfield, Mass.
Her Good Blood Works will do Much for the Afflicted.
Mrs. Chamberlin is the wife of C. W. Chamberlin, an employee in the U. S. Ind. Gun's Armory at Springfield, Mass. She says: "Every Spring I have been, for some time past, quite ill from boils and with sore throat and weakness. Some years I've been completely run down. My physician has recommended various strengthening and blood medicines, but I never received any permanent benefit. Last June I by Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. It was recommended to me by Mrs. Newcombe, my next-door neighbor. I think it a wonderful medicine to give one strength and energy as a person. I have recommended it to family after family among my acquaintances in Springfield, Mass., and FAVORITE REMEDY has done a great deal of good wherever it has been placed. I have a sister, Mrs. Hatfield, 22 Tremont St., Lowell, Mass., who was troubled with nervous weakness and loss of strength and appetite, but by using Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY her health was completely restored. I consider it an excellent medicine. Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is used extensively among the Armory men here."
No. 81.
A Scotch minister once said no woman could bear pain as well as man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Elward Hopper, of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her breast by amputation, without taking either ether or saying a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, said to never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and afterwards the doctor gave his FAVORITE REMEDY to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Hopper is now well and strong.

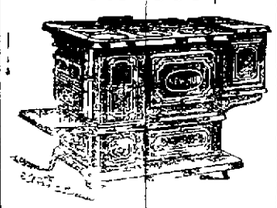
THE
New Hub Range
FOR 1883.



COMBINES MORE IMPROVEMENTS,
And Conveniences,
than all its competitors. The introduction of the new Hub in the city has caused our competitors to make over their goods, and in doing so their aim has been to get a stove "as good as the New Hub," but as yet they have all failed, and without The Patent Reflex Crate,
they cannot get a stove that will compare with the Hub. We have Sold Over 500 of These Ranges
within three years and we refer to them for proof that the New Hub is the easiest range to manage, the best baker, the most durable and the prettiest range in the market. To prove the durability of the Reflex grate, we will simply say that we have not in three years replaced or repaired one dozen grates out of the hundreds that we have sold during the Summer season the New Hub has been nearly made over. Every point which experience has proved to need strength, has been thoroughly strengthened, and we have to-day a range that is twenty five per cent. ahead of any other in New England.
Compare it with anything in the city, even the latest, and decide for yourself. We extend money for every range that proves unsatisfactory after a fair trial.

AYER'S PILLS.
A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.
These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.
A Sufferer from Headache writes:
"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers."
W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro.'
Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.
"I have used AYER'S PILLS in my family for many years, and consider them the best cathartic medicine in use. While in the [illegible] of Texas, I had a severe attack of bilious fever, and, being unable to procure a physician, I was compelled to prescribe for myself. I took a large dose of AYER'S PILLS, which relieved me in a few hours. I continued their use, and was soon restored to health. I have since had frequent occasion to use these PILLS, and have always found them to be reliable and effective."
MRS. [illegible] HALL, of Big Creek, Texas, writes: "I have used AYER'S PILLS in my family for many years, and consider them the best cathartic medicine in use. While in the [illegible] of Texas, I had a severe attack of bilious fever, and, being unable to procure a physician, I was compelled to prescribe for myself. I have since had frequent occasion to use these PILLS, and have always found them to be reliable and effective."
AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS are the best regulator of the bowels, to stimulate the appetite and digestion, and to their prompt and thorough action are to be attributed the great cures they effect in the whole physical economy.

FORTY YEARS AGO.
THE FIRST TELEGRAPH LINE IN AMERICA —INTERESTING REMINISCENCS BY THE OLDEST SURVIVING OPERATOR.
[Philadelphia Ledger.]
While so much is being said and written about the present strike of the telegraph operators and the magnitude of the business interests involved with those of the telegraph companies, the story of the "first strike" and of the first telegraph lines in the United States, told by one of the first telegraph operators, cannot fail to be of interest to the public. "The operator" was found by a reporter of the Public Ledger in the person of Capt. Louis M. Chasteau, who now commands the Park Guard, but who is also an old journalist. Capt. Chasteau said:
The first telegraph line in this country was constructed between Baltimore to Washington about the year 1845, under an appropriation made by Congress. Prof. Samuel, F. B. Morse, the inventor of the Morse alphabet, was superintendent of the line, Alfred Vail was assistant superintendent in Washington, Henry J. Rodgers was assistant superintendent at Baltimore, Lewis Zantzinger was operator at Washington, and I was operator at Baltimore. All of those I have mentioned are now dead, so that I am the oldest operator in the United States. The line was of copper wire covered or wrapped with cotton. The instruments were all very large, the relay magnet being kept in a box three feet long, which was always kept locked, the assistant superintendent keeping the key. No insulators were known at that time but sealing-wax, glass, oiled silk and a very miserable preparation of asphaltum. The magnets that covered the horse-shoe iron were covered with sealing-wax, and there were no such things as thumb-screws to connect two wires. All connections were made by glass tubes filled with mercury, and the operators in handling these, in case of thunder-storm, held in their hands large pieces of oiled silk. Our hours of service were from 9 to 9 A. M., 1 to 2 P. M., and from 5 to 6 P. M.
I remember the first arrest which the telegraph enabled the authorities to make, was that of a negro, who was a servant of a naval officer. The fellow took the train from Baltimore, and was arrested on alighting from the cars at Washington by Detective Cook. The officer placed his hand on the negro's shoulder and said: "I will take that money and jewelry you stole from Commodore——." The colored man was badly frightened, and with the anxious query, "How you know dat?" handed over the stolen property.
The Congressmen would telegraph from Baltimore to the Washington hotels at which they had been stopping to know the amount of their bills. The answers were considered to be a wonderful test of the accuracy of the telegraph. In fact, at first it was little more than a plaything. Our principal business consisted in sending the names of persons to Washington; the operator there would write it back, and the paper bearing the indication would be handed to the party, together with a card upon which the Morse alphabet was printed. The experimenter was then expected to decipher the writing in his leisure.
After the telegraph had proved successful between Baltimore and Washington, a company was organized to operate a line between New York and Washington. I left the government employ in 1847 and went to New York with Samuel Colt, the inventor of the revolver, who was then reduced in means, but who had been given the use of the Morse patents by Professor Morse. A young man named Elias Caldwell, from Virginia, and I, constructed a line from Brooklyn to Coney Island. I operated the line from the latter point, the object being to report the arrival of shipping. It was on this line that a cable was first used. Colt incased a wire in lead pipe, and this was sunk in the East river, but it did not work very well. The anchors of vessels were constantly dragging it, and I remember once, when the cable was hauled up by the anchor of a foreign vessel, the captain thought he had a prize, and pulled half of it aboard ship before he knew what it was. I then went to Boston and built a line from that place to Hull, for the same object as the New York and Coney Island line.
About that time Henry D. O'Reilley took a contract to construct a line between Baltimore and Philadelphia. He had for an assistant James D. Reed, a capable man. The scientific men at that day said that a wire between Philadelphia and Baltimore of iron, and of the thickness proposed, would not do at all. "It must be of copper," they said, "and all of the wire, as well as the poles, must be insulated." O'Reilley commenced at Philadelphia and built to Wilmington; and that section was successful, but for two months no connection could be made between the two terminal cities. One afternoon I received the Mexican war news, and went into the company's office adjoining the government office, having in my hand the "copy" of an important battle. I went to the instrument, when the operator, John D. Witman, asked what I intended to do. I replied that I proposed to send the war news to Philadelphia. I called Philadelphia, and, to my great astonishment, received an answer. I gave the signal 134—that is, "Who is writing?" and the answer came, "Beatty." I asked "Where?" and he replied that he was at the Merchants' Exchange, Philadelphia. I then told him to take the message and he did so. That was the first message which passed between Baltimore and Philadelphia. That operator was Joseph F. Beatty, who is still alive, and is employed in the Pennsylvania railroad company's office.
At the commencement, but little business was transacted over the line, and the first persons to use it, were the stock brokers. B. B. French was president of the Magnetic Telegraph Company, and it was under his management that the first thing looking to a strike of the operators occurred. We were then paid $50 a month. Major French, who I remember, had a singing tone of voice, he having been reading clerk of the House of Representatives, came to Washington, and we appointed a committee of two to ask for an increase of pay. Major French went to each operator and inquired minutely into his circumstances, etc. He appeared very much impressed by what he learned about Washington boarding houses, and our pay was increased. We had resolved to strike if we did not get it.
After the completion of this line, Henry D. O'Reilly, with another from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, and one that David Brooks was engaged and formed [illegible] a valuable man generally [illegible] to be, both, and

A gentleman writing from Rangely Lakes to a friend in Lewiston says, "the water hasn't been so high at the Lakes for years at this time of the year as it is now and the Lakes are full. I sailed with the Captain of the steamer, who told me that down below, at the Middle Dam, there were twenty-two feet of water, and that the highest recorded, was only six inches more. He also said that at the Upper Dam, eight miles from here, there is now eleven feet head, where usually at this summer season there is no head at all worth speaking of. Everybody up here at the Lakes would like to see the water go down so that they could get at their wharves. The weather is glorious, and visitors have unusually pleasant trips this season."

Mr. Byron Douglass, aged 20, a native of Portland who played the part of Varville to Alice Lingard's "Camille" in Portland last season, has made a hit in New York in the play of "In Camp."

East Baldwin has petitioned for a camp of Sons of Veterans.

Monday afternoon a young man employed at the Portland Company's had the fingers of one hand so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate them.

Rev. George E. Ferees, pastor of the Universalist church at New Gloucester has resigned his charge and accepted a call from the church in Canton, N. Y. where he will begin his work September 1st.

It is said a gentleman on the way to the Bar Harbor boat, Saturday night, while passing down State street, Portland, was attacked by two men who demanded his money, but he took to his legs, cried murder, and escaped.

Kennebec.

The workmen are laying the foundations of "Bleiben Hall" at Kent's Hill. The building will cost probably $6,000.

Rev. E. F. Davis, of Gardiner, has resigned his pastorate. At a parish meeting, Tuesday evening, his resignation was accepted.

The Journal says that Mr. Alden Taylor of Oakland, had a valuable team consisting of a horse, harness, robe and whip, stolen from the stable of Mr. Benj. Crowell in Oakland one day last week. The team was valued at $300. At last accounts it had not been recovered. Two French men are suspected of being the thieves.

A deep interest is now being manifested in Gardiner, in the new shoe factory, which, when completed, will be occupied by Kimball Bros., of Lynn, Mass. At a meeting Friday of subscribers to stock to build the factory, the name "Gardiner Shoe Shop Company" was adopted and the following officers were elected; John T. Richards, President; J. S. Mirecy, Secretary and Treasurer; Lowell Dennis, L. Bowman, John T. Richards, Directors. The condition under which the Kimball Brothers are to go to Gardiner are that the citizens build them a shop and exempt them from taxes for ten years. These conditions have already been fulfilled as far as possible to date, as the citizens have already subscribed $8,000—and the original amount asked was but $7,000—and at a special meeting of the City Council, Monday, the 18th inst., an order was passed exempting, for ten years, the buildings, machinery and stock of same.

Piscataquis.

No clue has yet been obtained to the perpetrator of the dastardly act of poisoning Mr. Leonard G. Austin's stock, in Parkman. Mr. Austin has lost three cows and twenty-six sheep. Fine salt and Paris green mixed have been found in several places in the pasture.

Sagadahoc.

The Times says, during the thunder shower of Sunday, evening, the house of Merrill Bailey, near Montsweag, Woolwich, was struck by lightning. Several of the children were prostrated by the bolt, but escaped without serious injury. The house was but slightly damaged.

York.

The Times says a barn owned by Isaac Fall, in South Berwick, was destroyed by fire, with its entire contents, Thursday evening last. It is reported the charred remains of a man were found in the ruins—supposed to be a tramp who lodged there and accidentally set it on fire.

A PECULIAR PORTER
HE ENTERS INTO A CONSPIRACY AND ROBS HIS EMPLOYERS.
John N. Masterson, thirty-eight years old, of New York, and John Ford, forty-two years old, who lives in Brooklyn, were arraigned at the Tombs in New York, on the charge of swindling the clothing firm of Browning, King & Co., of New York out of about $10,000 in the last two years. Both prisoners were committed in default of $2,500 bail, to await the action of the Grand Jury.
The proceedings before the Justice developed a well managed conspiracy to swindle the complainants, conducted for the last five years by the two prisoners and Edward Moore, a dealer in second-hand packing-boxes, who is at present in New Jersey and has not yet been arrested. The amount altogether stolen is $20,000.
The firm of Browning, King & Co., are manufacturers of ready-made clothing and are in the habit of receiving cloth in pieces in New York, which when manufactured, they ship to their warerooms in Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago and Milwaukee. The cases in which the cloth is received are utilized for the purpose of shipping the clothing, but as these are sometimes short, Masterson, who had charge of the packing department, was empowered to order additional ones.
He was directed to certify all bills for packing-boxes furnished, and from September 1, 1881, to date, has affixed his signature to bills for 11,033 cases, alleged to have been furnished the firm, when in fact only one thousand were received. These cases were charged at $1 each, so that during the last two years alone the sum paid by the firm for boxes not furnished, was $10,033.
Masterson, it seems, entered into a conspiracy with Moore, who furnished the cases to the firm and made out the fraudulent bills, and Ford, who presented them for payment after they had been certified to as correct by Masterson. The arrangement between the three was that Masterson's share of the proceeds of the fraud should be 75 per cent., Moore's 15 per cent. and Ford's 10 per cent.
A recent examination of the books exposed the swindle, and warrants for the arrest of the three men were issued. Masterson was promptly arrested when arraigned and at once made a full confession and restitution, to return to the firm about $2,000 of the money, which he had deposited in various savings banks in his wife's name. Ford averred that he was ignorant of the arrangement and had merely acted under his employer, Moore. He however, admits having received $6 or $10 from [illegible]

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1883

Democratic campaign phers in Ohio are doing good work for Mr Forster by seeking to disparage certain pantaloons which they aver, his mother made for h m out of coffee sacks when he was a lad

A special despatch from Harrisburg, Pa, says In view of the union of the stalwarts and independent Republicans, only the most sanguine Democrats have hope of electing their ticket

The Kennebec Journal says "Ex-Gov Davis, Gen Charles Hamlin and Judge Brett of Bangor, presented Wednesday to Gov Robie petitions asking for the appointment of Hon John A Peters as Chief Justice

Mr Joseph Millmore of Boston, has determined to take up the unfinished works of his bro her Martin, and will forthwith begin upon the statue of Webster, which the late artist was engaged on for the city of Concord, N H

Say what you will about Judge Hoadly, says the Tribune it is clear that he loves h s enemies It he didn't does any one imagine he would be helping the Republicans of Ohio to defeat the Democratic nominee for Governor?

The San Francisco Chronical counts up thirty Californians who have died in ten years each of whom was worth over a mill on and some of them many millions The only ones of them who left anything to public purposes were James Lick, R B Woodward Louis Strauss and William Sahlein

Nothing brings a political party to its senses like adversity The Virginia bourbons are not as anxious to draw the color line as they were when they had things their own way in that State The black man who will vote the Democratic ticket will be petted and flattered in the Old Dominion this year

According to the Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem) Judge Hoadly has complained to various persons that the Democratic nomination has cost him a large sum, and that he even suggested to the Republican candidate the propriety of making some arrangement to prevent their being bled during the campaign

The Republican State Central Committee of Massachusetts have appointed the State Convention for September 19 It will be held in Boston and Col Charles Codman of Boston will be its President. In that State the President of the Convention and the Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions are selected by the State Committee some time beforehand

In referring to the report started by Gov Foster of Ohio that Judge Hoadly, the Democratic candidate for Governor of that State had paid $50 000 for his nomination we remarked the other day that Gov Foster owed it to Judge Hoadly to give the name of his informant Well, he has done it and the letter of that informan who is a personal friend of the Judge would convict the latter in any court of justice in the land —Providence Press

The latest joke at the expense of David Davis is that a little daughter of John Oberly Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Illinois and a neighbor of the Judge, was taken out walking one day near the mansion of the ex Senator, and when her father asked if she saw Judge Davis she replied "No, I walked all around there and I didn t thee Judge Davis on the fence The story got out, and ever since then John has kept his distance

Ex Governor Hendricks, of Indiana, is a candidate for more offices than any other statesman in the country, probably. He is eager to be nominated for Vice President on the old ticket, or to take the first place on a new ticket His willingness to run for Governor of the State is also but thinly veiled under a little decent reluctance His friends acknowledge that they expect to see him a candidate for the position next year They are whispering in his ear that the office is seeking the man this time and that under such circumstances no statesman has a right to say "your candidate I cannot be" Hendrick's rivals will have to admit that for a man with a sore toe he is making an uncommonly vigorous race for several offices at the same time

The past ten days have been remarkable for the great number of destressing disasters that have occurred First came the breaking of the rotten wharf at North Point, Md, by which sixty five lives were lost, then on the succeeding day Capt Webb was drowned at Niagara, followed by Carlyon, (New York) horror where nineteen persons lost their lives, in the collision of a passenger train with a freight car, besides a great many being more or less injured Then came the news from across the water of the terrible earthquake on the island of Ischia when five thousand lives were lost, and on Wednesday an account of the collision on the Troy & Boston Railroad when six persons were either crushed or burned to death or both.

An exchange says The Western newspapers have discovered a new field for professional enterprise, which goes far beyond anything hitherto dreamed of An heiress directory has been published by one St. Louis journalist, giving the names, ages, and incomes of the girls of the place, together with such descriptions of their appearance as would be likely to interest gentlemen on the lookout for wives. To "beat" this, a rival is getting up a beauty match. A coupon ticket is printed in his paper, which every reader is requested to cut out and fill up with the name of the handsomest woman in St. Louis and return to the office. The editor will in due time announce the result. Colleges which are considering the advisability of founding professorships of journalism will see from such cases as these that the practical newspaper art is something which can never be taught by a professor. The knack of knowing what will "take" and sell in a particular community is a pure literary gift, and a man in whom it is not born can never get it by study, no matter how deeply he goes into the theory of journalism.

THE GRAND ARMY.

THE NEW COMMANDER ELECTED AT DENVER

Robert B. Beath was born in Philadelphia in 1839. He entered the service as a private in 1861, and remained in the field until the close of the war, being promoted from time to time for bravery. He was first lieutenant in the 88th Pennsylvania volunteers first corps, army of the Potomac, and while serving in this capacity was wounded in the second battle of Bull Run Being again promoted, he assumed command of a company of colored troops, and served with them in the army of the James In the charge at New Market Heights, Va, he was again wounded, losing his right leg September 29, 1864 Being taken to the hospital, he stayed there until 1865, when he was assigned to duty at Camp William Penn, Philadelphia, remaining there until able to join his regiment.

He was mustered out in September with a lieutenant colonel's commission. After the war he removed to Pottsville, Schuylkill county, Pa., where he entered business as secretary of the Anthracite Mining Exchange In 1871 he was elected Surveyor General of the State of Pennsylvania and after his term of service returned to Philadelphia to engage in the insurance business, being now secretary of the United Firemen s Insurance Company of that city Upon the organization of the Grand Army of the Republic, he became one of the first members in his native State, and served four years as Assistant Adjutant General of the Department. He was subsequently elected Department Commander by an unanimous vote Becoming a member of the National Encampment, he served in it two years as Inspector General thoroughly organizing this department He was Adjutant General under Commander in Chief Hartranft and one year under Commander in Chief Louis Wagner

PROF DENSLOW MAKES SOME TARIFF POINTS

[From a Debate in Chicago with Prof Sumner]

Prof. Sumner says the tariff can't protect us because it is collected at the sea board As well say forts at the sea board can't protect us, but that to equalize military protection we must have as big a fort at every county seat as we have at New York harbor. 'Tisn't true America has 52,000 000 of customers It is the most valuable single market the world has ever known, because, under protection, the activity of production has blessed us with greater means to buy with We are the best housed, best dressed, best fed, best educated best mannered and best looking race of men and women on earth Affording, therefore, the world's best market to the extent of 52 000 000 of people, we say give this market to our producers and they can produce cheaply But let in foreigners to supply half of this market and everything will be dear It is the extent of our home production that will bring cheapness Foreign production never will Professor Sumner proposes that we steal from each other all night, and asks how much more wealth we should have in this room to-morrow morning I answer, we should have just as much to a cent as if we traded with each other freely all night. Mr Sumner claims that Congressmen don't understand business very well, and that we wouldn t take many shares of stock in a company in which Congressmen were directors I think a company of that kind would continue to flicker a long time after a stock company got up by college professors had gone out He says he is taxed to sustain the Williamantic Thread Company That depends on whether cotton thread is dearer since it comes to be made in the United States The fact is it is two cents cheaper on every spool Hence he is not taxed

In an editorial paragraph on the platform adopted by the Pennsylvania Democrats the Lewiston Journal says Randall's strong protective tariff ideas are wholly victorious One resolution demands that our entire internal revenue taxation be swept away The very highest of high tariff people ask no more than that Another resolution asks that our duties shall encourage productive industries at home Watterson must foam at the mouth when he reads such Democratic literature as is suited to the latitude of Pennsylvania. In view of the variety of Democratic opinions on all questions save that of whether Democrats ought to have the offices the platform of the next National Democratic Convention will be mighty interesting reading as a feat of rhetorical straddling.

The East and West India Docks Company of London has boldly embarked in a gigantic enterprise, for which some commercial prophets predict a failure. This is the construction of docks at Tilbury on the Thames, opposite Gravesend, of such magnitude that the Globe says On the whole this dock extension promises to be the most remarkable that even London has ever witnessed and will leave all other ports in the world far behind " They will have a tidal basin with a depth of forty-three feet, and the largest vessels afloat will go in and out without regard to the tide The contracts call for four dry docks with a total length of 1 730 feet, a floating derrick with a lifting capacity of 100 tons special wharves and abattoirs for the cattle traffic, 15,000 lineal feet of quay berths, from forty to fifty miles of permanent railroad tracks and a large hotel for the accommodation of passengers. "Tilbury is certainly at a considerable distance from London," says the Globe, "but with the railway facilities to be organized, a few miles more or less will be of no great importance, while it is undeniable that with the huge ships of the present day—and they still seem to be continually advancing in dimensions—the avoidance of a few miles of river navigation, with its windings and shallows and fogs, and the necessary cost of tonnage and pilotage, must be an immense advantage." The contracts call the completion of the work within two years and a half, of which one year has already elapsed.

An Ohio Democrat says "It is troublesome to find out which is most desirable, to squelch John G. Thompson or elect Judge Hoadly."

The supporters of Mr. Carlisle's candidacy for the Speakership are trying to drum up votes for him in the Southwest by claiming that he is especially favorable to the project of improving the Mississippi River. In the next Congress the Democrats will doubtless make a vigorous effort to obtain large appropriations for this purpose, and a hostile Speaker in the chair might balk their intentions. Mr. Randall is known to be against voting large sums of money to internal improvements, and that is one reason why the friends of the project to dump millions of money into the Mississippi River oppose his election. With Carlisle in the chair they expect better success.

LYMAN'S DANDELION BITTERS.
Not Only a Preventive, but Also a Sure Cure for Biliousness.
The liver is one of the most important organs of the body It not only filters the blood but removes all impurities from it, but it also secretes the bile, that peculiar fluid for the separation of the refuse matter from the nourishing portion of the food and the elimination of the bowels
If for any reason the bile is turned into the stomach instead of following its natural course into the bowels, it taints the blood, and the whole system becomes poisoned. The result is headache, dizziness and constipation If the cause is not removed the trouble continues and life's a burden At such a time the best remedy is
which opens the ducts and allows the bile to flow in its natural channel, and regulates the bowels

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

The Cattle Trade.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. Referring to the complaints recently received at the Treasury Department that there are not proper accommodations for imported cattle at the quarantine station at Waltham, near Boston, acting Secretary French says: While it is true that there are not proper accommodations at Waltham for all cattle which are brought into Boston, the Treasury Department is in no respect responsible. When Congress appropriates sufficient money and importers exercise proper discretion in ascertaining where there is room for their cattle and give proper notice of proposed shipments, I think all cause for complaint will cease. It stands to reason that with our present facilities, that if at one time 1000 head of cattle are without proper notice landed at a port which has accommodation for not more than 300, only confusion and trouble can be expected.

No Foot and Mouth Disease Among Cattle in this Country.

The Treasury Cattle Commission has made a report to Treasury Department in regard to the alleged existence of the foot and mouth disease among the cattle in this country. Charges have been recently made in the British Parliament that cattle were being shipped from our ports infected with foot and mouth disease, and a majority of the House of Commons having voted for a resolution opposing the importation into Great Britian of cattle from any country in which said disease exists, we feel it our duty to state the facts of the case, so far as this country is concerned.

After a most extended and almost exhaustive inquiry our commission has been able to find no trace of the foot and mouth disease apart from herds just landed from Great Britain, and which herds have been, in every case, sequestered until the infection has entirely disappeared. The nature and scope of our enquiry may be deduced from our report for 1881. Beginning with the great rendezvous of cattle at Kansas City, Council Bluffs and Omaha, we have made careful investigations along the lines of the cattle traffic as far as the eastern seaboard.

In this investigation we have included all the great stock yards where cattle are detained for feeding, watering, sale, etc, all the great feeding distilleries and starch, glucose and other factories, all the city dairies where stock yards exist and where herds are replenished from such stock-yards, and to a large extent the great dairying districts into which cows are drawn from the above named stockyards and lines of travel. Up the present date we have made observations in the stock-yards at the seaboard, the terminal of our cattle traffic, and that to which all infection must gravitate, but apart from the imported cases above referred to we have been unable to find a single case of the foot and mouth disease complained of.

Dangerous Business.

The Secretary of the Treasury has received a letter from a prominent firm in New York city calling attention to the fact that large quantities of wool of a low grade are exported from Egypt, Syria and countries in their vicinity to this country, which is the principal market for them, besides considerable quantities of bed wools extracted from old mattresses from Constantinople, etc. These wools are frequently transhipped at Marseilles and in England for this country. In view of the terrible epidemic now raging in eastern Mediterranean these wools might convey infection as well as rags.

Suicide of Senor Barca.

The story that the late Spanish Minister Barca was driven to suicide by impending disgrace, proceeding from his misappropriation of Spanish Government funds, is denied.

The Hill Investigation.

Coleman asked for a ruling on his inquiry if the committee proposed to admit further testimony in regard to the heating apparatus in the Chicago building and also for a ruling on his proposition to present further evidence in regard to the granite contracts. Chairman New then, on behalf of the committee, made an announcement that this committee was appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury to investigate the charges filed by T. H. Murch, by letter dated April 10, 1883, since which time it has allowed the prosecution the widest latitude and patiently listened to the introduction of testimony relating to almost everything that enters into the construction of a building, from a basement stone to an attic tank and slate roof.

Of what value in its opinion is all this testimony this committee will state in its report to the Secretary of the Treasury and that it may prepare this report proposes discontinuing this investigation at this point, except in the matter of heating apparatus constructed for the Chicago custom house and post office building, and the cross-examination of a single witness by the prosecution.

When the committee has made its report to the Secretary if the prosecution, represented by Coleman, is of the opinion that other accounts should be examined, or those already investigated should be inquired into still further, he or any other citizen has a right to file new charges and specifications with the Secretary, who can receive and do with them whatever he deems proper. Upon the matter of the heating apparatus of the Chicago building the committee desire some additional light, which they will endeavor to get and will advise the counsel at the proper time as to what course they will take to get it.

Coleman thereupon protested against the closing of testimony as ordered by the committee. Chairman New said as the committee did not desire oral arguments on the case he would like to have the counsel put in written arguments as soon as possible. These arguments would accompany the report of the committee. Coleman asked to be allowed to make an oral argument, but was informed that the committee would only receive written arguments. Coleman then asked to be furnished with a full copy of the proceedings of the committee, as he desired to cross-examine Thompson of the architect's office. The committee then adjourned till to-morrow morning.

THE STRIKE.

No Material Change in the Situation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. There seems to be no change to-day in the attitude of the Western Union Company towards the striking operators. The officers reported this morning that the usual force returned to duty, that business was all cleared up last night and was all moving promptly. It was found that the wires to Elizabeth, N. J., were out of order again this morning and linemen were sent out to repair them. Four more strikers returned to work to-day at the Western Union office. Reports from the eastern district received by the company this morning state that many operators were returning to their posts each day, and that in most offices the force was as large as before.

Reports come from various points in the South of railroad operators refusing to take commercial business, but all were promptly discharged by railroad superintendents and their places readily filled. The Western Union officials deny the truth of the report started by the strikers that the company were cutting their own wires to have an excuse for delaying business.

Operators Returning.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. The officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company report three more striking operators returned to work to-day.

Trouble with the Wires.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. The storm prevailing to-day did much damage to Western Union wires along the coast routes and interior and in this city. It is reported that in Greenwich street wires were found bound together with fine German silver wire, rendering several circuits useless.

PRESIDENTIAL PARTY.

Enroute to Chicago.

SALEM, Ind, Aug. 2. A special train containing President Arthur and party left Louisville half an hour late. The train is decorated elaborately, having on headlight a large portrait of the President. Great crowds collected at all way stations to witness its flying passage. Owing to the delay in starting no stop was made after leaving New Albany until Salem was reached. The train has the right of way, all other trains being side tracked to await its coming. The party will reach Chicago early this evening.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Striking Coopers.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2. The striking coopers now number 2200. At a meeting this morning it was announced that some of the bosses had agreed to pay the advance asked and work will be resumed in their shops to-morrow. The strikers claim that the strike, which has only been partial, will soon become general. They say twelve hundred men will quit work to-morrow unless the bosses yield.

CRIMINAL RECORD.

Arraigned for Murder.

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 2. Geo. W. Congdon was arraigned to-day on charge of murdering Wilcox at Old Warwick Cove. The examination was postponed one week.

Arrest of a Notorious Criminal.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2. A Kansas City special says Charley Ford, slayer of Jesse James, the famous outlaw, was arrested this afternoon under an old indictment for the Blue Cut train robbery. Ford does not yet know the cause of his arrest.

THE OAR.

Regatta at Lake Minnetonka.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 2. Fully 5000 people gathered at Lake Minnetonka yesterday to witnessed the rowing race between Hanlan, Hosmer, Lee, Teemer, Plaisted and Riley. The race took place in the upper lake. The course was 1½ miles and turn. The water was lumpy and rowing was somewhat difficult. Word was not given to start till 4:35 when the men for the first heat took their places and the start was made. Teemer, Lee and Plaisted were the starters in the first race.

Plaisted took water first and led for the first half mile when Teemer forged ahead, closely followed by Lee. The two latter made a fine race alternating positions to the finish, Teemer winning the heat in 21 minutes, 50 seconds. Lee come in second in 21 minutes and 58½ seconds. Plaisted did not turn the stake.

In the second heat Hanlan, Hosmer and Riley were placed and a start made at 5.12 P. M. The wind and water were about the same as in the first race. Hanlan pulled away easily, closely followed by Hosmer and Riley. At the stake Hanlan intentionally fooled away several seconds until Hosmer caught up, when as pretty a race as was ever seen was rowed to the starting point, Hosmer crowding the champion closely to the finish. Hanlan won in 21 minutes, 28½ seconds. Hosmer was second in 23 minutes. Riley did not finish.

Hanlan, Hosmer, Teemer and Lee will to-day row the deciding heat and close. An exciting pull for the second place is expected between Teemer and Hosmer, the latter being the favorite.

FROM CHICAGO.

Sunday Items.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. Fire in the Lind block last night caused a damage of $30,000. The loss is distributed among a large number of small manufacturers.

Mrs. Mary W. Sledgett, aged 83 years, widely known during the late war as a nurse in many hospitals, died here to-day.

The Recent Earthquake.

NAPLES, Aug. 2. King Humbert yesterday visited the scenes of the earthquake on the island of Ischia and went over the ruins of the destroyed houses. He expressed the deepest sympathy with the sufferers and directed the distribution of money and provisions for those in need. Another severe shock of earthquake was felt on the island last evening which put a stop to the work of searching for bodies. It is believed that some of the persons buried under the falling buildings at the time the earthquake occurred are still alive in the ruins. The use of lime on the ruins is therefore opposed.

O'Donnell Arraigned.

The London Daily News has the following special despatch, dated Cape Town, July 31st: "O'Donnell was examined before a Port Elizabeth magistrate to-day on the charge of murdering James Carey, the informer. According to the evidence given Carey and O'Donnell had been drinking in a second class cabin just before the murder. When the steamer was half way between Table Bay and Algoa Bay O'Donnell suddenly shot Carey in the neck with a revolver. Carey staggered away, and O'Donnell followed and shot him twice in the back. Carey died in twenty minutes. O'Donnell says he was a California digger. He had lost heavily in a silver mine. He was unaware of Carey's identity until he saw it stated in a Cape paper who Power was. He then determined to kill him. O'Donnell was accompanied by a young woman whom he calls his neice. He is six feet high, has gray eyes and dark hair; is about forty-five years of age, and is paralyzed in one hand. The supposed infernal machine which he brought with him is merely an ordinary galvanic battery.

Mrs. Cary deposed at the examination that after the murder she asked O'Donnell: "Did you shoot my husband?" and he replied: 'Yes; I was sent to do it.'"

Carey's identity was suspected by the steward and another of the crew of the steamer, Kinfauns Castle, who noted his likeness—although shaven—to portraits of the informer and the number and name of his children.

Carey's demeanor on board the steamer was imprudent. He lived very freely. He provoked a row at a Cape Town hotel by his abuse of the English.

M., and, hearing some one in the room, asked what was wanted, supposing it to be the nurse girl. No answer being received she awoke her husband, who sprang up and running to the window fired at the rapidly retreating figure of a man who was making his way to the end of the veranda roof. The robber staggered and fell, bounding from the roof to a lower one, and then to the railing below, breaking a large post. He rallied and ran for the woods. Another man was seen running from the other side of the house by other parties. A former employe is suspected. No arrests have been made.

HUGHES POINT. Visitors to this place report everything delightful and exhilirating. A summer view of the eastern islands from Abram's mountain will repay a trip from Bangor. Eleven cottages have been built here the past season and there are more to follow. Some when completed will be very fine. A lady artist from Washington is taking sketches of the picturesque scenery. Mr. Brackett, of Boston, who has bought the lower end of the island, is cruising in that vicinity with his steam yacht. The wharf completed this season is a very substantial structure, having fifteen feet of water at low tide for vessels to float in, so that large steamers can come up without getting aground. The growth of this place has been rapid and probably another year will witness a larger increase.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT. The people of East Eddington were shocked yesterday afternoon by the announcement of a drowning accident in Davis Pond, close by the village. Walter, the youngest son of Mr. Arthur R. Merrill, of that town, had been playing near the shore of the pond and in some way fell into the water with the unfortunate result announced above. The first discovery made was that of the hat of the lad floating on the water's surface and a short search failing to reveal his whereabouts the people were led to the sorrowful conclusion that the boy was drowned. An investigation was at once made and in a short time the body was recovered. A vigorous effort was made to resuscitate the boy, but without avail. He was about 8 years of age and a very bright, promising lad. The family have general sympathy in their sad bereavement.

FIRE ALARM. In order to test the efficiency of the new fire alarm telegraph and give the department practice in responding to the summons Chief Engineer Maddocks last evening about 7:30 sounded an alarm from Box 23, at Sweet's West Side Drug store. The members of the fire department had no previous knowledge of the alarm, but they responded with alacrity, and within an incredibly brief time the various companies were at the scene of action. Six seconds from the time of the alarm being pulled the bells began striking the number of the box and within one minute from the first alarm pea line of hose had been stretched across West Market Square and the hook and ladder cart was also present. The entire department turned out, including the Unions, Hollys, Elijah Lows, Eurekas, hose chase cart and hook and ladder cart. The trial of the new alarm was eminently satisfactory.

BURGLARIES AT ENFIELD. Wednesday night the M. C. R. R. depot, Enfield, was entered by a person or persons by means of cutting out glass in the window. They first cut a pane out of the window in the waiting room and then pulling up the catch were enabled to enter. Finding nothing of value they proceeded and cut out a small piece of glass in the corner of a window, opening to the office, where they could reach a spring and then entered by the window and commenced their work of plundering. They opened all the drawers of the desk and rifled them and also broke the lock of a valise in the office, obtaining articles to the amount of $40 or $50 belonging to Mr. A. A. White, station agent, among which were two watches. They also entered the freight house and forced the lock of a trunk. Finding nothing of value they departed, leaving everything in ruins. They then proceeded to the store of John Treat & Son, cut out a pane of glass, entered, broke open the money drawer and helped themselves to about $25 in cash. Before leaving they were very careful to help themselves to cigars and tobacco and also to a very fine revolver owned by Mr. Charles B. Treat, together with a quantity of cartridges. They seemed to be hungry as the cover of the counter barrel was found all said appears access showed that they had eaten freely. Mr. A. J. Dorling's house was entered in daylight and a valuable watch, together with other articles, was s

STOLEN SHIP KNEES. Deputy Sheriff Appleton and Officer Dougherty last evening drove some three miles beyond Upper Stillwater, on the road to Alton, and arrested a man named John Nolan. The complaint is that he obtained a half dozen ship knees, belonging to another man, removed with an axe the latter's mark on the knees and then sold them to Mayor Cummings, of this city. Nolan has been brought to this city and is now established at the Police Station.

The Shaw Failure.

There are few additional developments in this vicinity in connection with the Shaw failure. During yesterday there were no further attachments recorded at the office of the Register of Deeds in this county. In the estimation of competent judges the indebtedness of F. Shaw & Bros., against our mercantile firms is about $30,000 and unsecured paper held here $10,000, making the total indebtedness against Bangor parties, $40,000.

In addition to the attachments in Penobscot there have been attachments put on the property of the suspended firm in Washington and Aroostook counties. At the office of the Register of Deeds, in Calais, the following are recorded: Fuller & Stanford, $3,000; Wheelwright, Clark & Co., $1,200; Haynes & Pillsbury, $2,500; Chas. Hayward & Co., $10,000; A. H. Thaxter & Co., $9,000; Rice, Skinner & Co., $3,500; Wood, Bishop & Co., $1,500; Henry McLaughlin, $700. The above are Bangor firms. F. H. Todd & Sons, Calais, $12,000; Deering, Milliken & Co., Portland, $10,000; W. & C. R. Milliken, Portland, $16,000. At Houlton the following attachments were recorded in the Register of Deeds office, Wednesday: Hopkins & Stanford, $3,300; Haynes & Pillsbury, $2 500, Bangor; S. A. Gray, Houlton, $300; Twitchell & Champlin, Portland, $19,000.

Reports from the up-river country are to the effect that fears are entertained that the workmen in the tanneries may be heavy losers by this unfortunate suspension. It is claimed that in some instances large amounts are due employes on back accounts and it is said that the stores of F. Shaw & Bros. have already refused to let men have goods except for services rendered since the assignment to F. A. Wyman. Report comes from Grand Lake Stream that the workmen in the tannery there have struck and refuse to work until their wages are assured them.

Excursions.

The Jameson Guards are perfecting arrangements for a rousing excursion on board the barge, Tuesday, August 14th. Fort Point will probably be the objective point. The Bangor Band will accompany the party. Among the attractions will be a glass ball shoot and boat races. The Bangor and Belfast base ball nines will also play a game of base ball there that day.

The barge Clifford yesterday took the Congregational societies of Brewer Village, Holden and Orrington on a trip down the bay. The party numbered about four hundred in all and a very good time was had. The Brewer Band was in attendance and gave fine music. Northport was the place visited.

The annual excursion of the Crusade occurred yesterday on the steamer Queen City. A good party availed themselves of the occasion to make a trip down the bay.

THE BREAD OF LIFE

BY REBECCA R. PIERCE

"And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me shall never hunger"—John vi 35.

Upon Life's rugged way,
Famished and faint I stray
Where heavenly hills uprise,
I lift my longing eyes,
Craving Thy bounty, Lord, for Thou hast said,
"Thou art of life the bread"

Too long, weary and worn,
My soul by hunger torn,
Growing more weak each day,
I've faltered by the way,
Too long on empty husks my soul hath fed,
Lord, give me living bread!

Thou knowest all my need,
Oh, blessed Saviour, feed
Me, till I want no more,
Plenty Thou hast in store—
Food that shall be imperishable, pure,
That ever shall endure.

The bread of life Thou art!
Strength to the fainting heart!
Thou who was crucified,
Thou who for me hast died,
Feed me and give me strength from day to day,
Onward to press my way

Daily this food bestow,
That I in grace may grow
A loftier height attain,
That I may victory gain,
And hear, at last, Thy voice, at set of sun
"Servant of God, well done!"

Orrington, July, 1883

[From the Times]

THE SERGEANT'S WILL

"Mr Warrington, I believe?"

Simple words and true as far as that I am Mr Warrington, but this I can assert, never bad words so taken me by surprise, nor has my name ever been put to me in under more singular circumstances That this is to be clear I must explain As short y as I can I will do so, for I dislike explanations, and would have my judge, when I am moving the court, know before hand if possible, wost my points.

I am a barrister, as you guess, and my chambers are in Hare court, it is the most ancient, quiet and retired place in the temple just on your right, if you come in by the archway at the bottom of Chancery lane, my number is of no importance, in fact abundant reasons will appear why I should be reticent as to it One reason which will not appear, but a cogent one nevertheless, being that solicitors are not fond of counsel who rush into print, unless their incubrances are bound in calf I have one room in which I sit myself, and the unoccupied half of it clerk's room and a passage, the rest of the set are occupied (I am talking of a time six months back) by Sergeant Greathead, Q C of the western circuit, whose large room in the rear is the only comfortable and well furnished one, my rooms being as dingy and cheerless as most ground floor apartments in the temple. A couple of doors shut us in, but the oak is only sported when the clerks leave at seven Then our chambers not very lively during the day time, are abandoned to darkness, silence, and the mice in a word they are merely offices.

Well, about the time I have ment oned, I was obliged, no matter why—perhaps because over my dinner at the Suffolk street club I discovered a fallacy in the opinion to be sent out next morning—I found my self obliged, for the first time for certainly a year, to go to my chambers after dinner The block at St Clement Danes was str king the half hour after nine as I turned into the lonesome and echoing temple I opened my outer door with my key, after ascertaining that I had some matches in my pocket and did the same to the inner door, drawing the oak to behind me and shutting it, then I stood still It was very odd!—all should have been in darkness but from the key-hole of the Sergeant s room a bright ray of light shone steadily and from within came the familiar sound of the rustling of papers. It was very odd, I had known the Sergeant say he never worked at night, and certainly I had never heard of him coming to his chambers in the evening. Very singular that we should both be there on this particular night! At any rate, I would see if it was all right I opened his door and walked in ready to apology on my lips The room as I have said, a spacious one was covered with papers and books, but no Sergeant Greathead was there! Some one was, though, with a vengeance.

Mr Warrington, I believe?"

With one hand resting upon the table and pressing some among the many papers, which littered it, stood the speaker, a lady! Apparently about thirty-five, she was tall and of a good figure, her dress handsome though simple A veil obscured much of her face which was toward me as I entered. Either her complexion was naturally colorless or agitation had driven the blood from her cheeks, the latter, I conjectured, since her left hand was pressed to her side I stood dumbfounded, and at least twice this unexpected apparition repeated the words I have set down Who was she, and what on earth was she doing alone and at the time of night in our chambers? As far as I remember I said at last in a bewildered to e st ti ho ding the door handle.

Yes certainly, I am Mr Warrington"

You must be surprised to find me here. I am Sergeant Greathead's niece"

Oh, yes!" I answered with a bow and a vain attempt to indicate by my tone that I bought this a perfectly satisfactory explanation of her presence at half past nine in his chambers, 'Oh, yes"

He s rather ill this evening and thought he would like to have some papers to read in case he should not sleep I have volunteered to fetch them—was it not bold of me?—and my cab is waiting in Fleet street

The Sergeant not well' I am very sorry Can I give you any assistance?" From the appearance of the table she must have undone most of the bundles in search of the right papers such was the litter upon it She really was a very good looking woman

You can undo the harm you have innocently caused Mr Warrington, by getting me a glass of water, if you will be so kind You startled me not a little I was prepared to find darkness and loneliness, but not to meet any one'

If I have frightened you I do wish I had staid away—which is unselfish," I added gallantly, but it is curious that fate should have led me here to-night for the first time this year"

Yes, not only curious, Mr. Warrington, but provoking, also"

I laughed and hastened to my room, lit a candle, and drew some water from the filter There was a flavor of romance about this and yet, handsome as she was, and singular as were the circumstances, something repelled me I had not got over the start she caused me, perhaps.

Are you sure that you have got what you want?' She had replaced the papers and cleared the table with wonderful defcness while I was away She was standing now by the fireplace, evidently ready to go.

I have, thank you," she answered, rather thoughtfully, "perhaps you would be good enough to escort me to my cab, my nerves have hardly recovered yet."

She smiled bewitchingly as she spoke, what I took for badinage, but the next instant I saw that it was true enough. We were moving toward the door, and I had just said, "With pleasure," when a heavy footstep coming along the passage outside, made itself clearly heard even through the closed doors It halted a couple of seconds, as if going no farther, then it proceeded on and up the stairs. Well, just during the second or two that it halted at the door I saw my companion's face—it had turned white again and had the same nervous, expectant expression I had first observed. Her nerves had not recovered the surprise of my sudden entrance.

"It would hardly do for any one to find me here," she said with a forced laugh, finding my eyes fixed upon her face.

"No? But that was so like your uncle's footstep that it did not alarm me."

She did not smile as I expected. On the contrary, she helped to unfasten the outer door with almost petulant eagerness. Once in the open air she breathed more freely, but she hardly spoke again except to thank me when I put her into the cab.

"I hope the Sergeant will sleep to-night and not need his papers," were my last words, which she only acknowledged by a bow, as she threw herself back. But I had cause, as will be seen, to remember them.

I did not get much work done that night, quiet as it was; my visitor had unsettled me, I suppose. Twice I thought I heard some one in the Sergeant's room, and was foolish enough to take a light and go and see. Of course there was no one there, so after a short time I gave it up and went home to bed.

Monday I received a most serious shock. Among the items of intelligence in the Morning Post, appeared this paragraph: (It will save me much explanation): "We regret to have to announce the sudden death, at his residence, Gloucester Road, of Mr. Sergeant Greathead, Q C, of the western circuit, recorder of Diddlesham. His decease, which took place very suddenly on Saturday evening, was caused by heart complaint, from which the learned gentleman had for some time suffered."

"Umph!" said I to myself, and, being a lawyer, began to think and put two and two together, not without now and again a little eerie feeling down the small of my back! Mr Sergeant Greathead died on Saturday evening On Saturday evening, before or after the event is not proved, a lady is discovered all alone among Mr. Sergeant Greathead's papers in his chambers, and, though this I was not quite sure about, among the drawers of his private writing table 'Umph'" well, I was not er on very intimate terms with the old gentleman, who was thirty years my senior, and it is no particular business of mine. It's all right, or will come so in the end, doubtless And I put on my boots and coat and went down to the chamber and discussed the old gentleman's death, with due amount of sympathy, with his clerk, and forwarded a letter of condolence to the family, of whom I knew nothing, applied to the treasurer of the inner temple to take on the Sergeant's chambers, and did my usual work and lived my usual life for four days Then something happened Thomas, my boy, showed in to me "Mr. Ford," of Ford, Ford & Bittle, of staple Inn, whom I knew to be the late Sergeant s solicitors. "A new client," said I to myself, with excitement With a judicious mixture of courtesy and dignity I waved him to a seat, which was not thrown away

"Now perhaps you can help me, Mr Warrington," he said, after a few preliminary observations which sufficiently obliged me. Have you any idea where our poor friend is likely to have put his will?"

Not the slightest We were not on very intimate terms, though the best of friends Have you searched his cupboard and books?"

Carefully Yet I feel sure that it is not here. The day he signed it he said to me "Here you will find it which it's wanted Pat it in the tappid the table so that I took it for granted he meant to lock it up there."

What family has he left, Mr Ford?"

He was never married His nieces remarkably nice girl, has lived with him for a year Except a distant cousin, who has acted as a kind of housekeeper, she was his only connection'

Was his niece a great favorite of his?"

Yes, of late, very much so Her mother died the Sergeant did not get on, a year ago the mother died, and Mr Greathead who was a good man at bottom, took the girl home I don't mind telling you that the missing will leaves her nearly everything"

What" I cried, in huge astonishment, "leaves her nearly everything?

Yes, and very natural, too, why not?"

Up to this moment, I had had, since the lawyer opened his business to me, but one idea, which was, that on the night on which the old man died, his niece, this very nice girl," had come to his chambers, searched for the will, and, for her own advantage, abstracted and destroyed it Had done that, and had lain to the bargain, startled me first and fooled me afterward But now about this theory now? Cui bono

I can't make it out!" I said, slowly nursing my chin

Nor can I" cried the other, briskly.

Is the niece, Miss—Miss Greathead, of a very Quixotic spirit? at all likely to burn the will, to benefit someone else?'

She's not so mad as to throw away £70,000, if you mean that Good heavens, sir, what suggested such a thing to you?"

I told him all that had occurred on the Saturday night, just as I have related it above. If my readers feel a tithe of the wonder expressed, I am satisfied with my powers of description

If you had not told me face to face, sir, I would not have believed a syllable of it," he said emphatically, "not a syllable!"

Could you?—after I had thought a minute or two—could you picture me a glimpse of Miss Greathead, or of her photograph?"

Our Mr Ford actually blushed Well, I could Perhaps it would be more satisfactory if you saw her yourself'

Not at all" What in the world makes the man indeed so?

Then I think—I have—somewhere, if I've not left it, the very thing you want. Oh, yes, here it is" And, after fumbling in all his other pockets, from his breast-pocket Mr Ford a little red in the face, produced a neat little Russia leather case. He opened this and held the portrait within for my inspection

Well" he uttered impatiently, while with a critical eye I examined a very pretty, very youthful, wholly good face.

Nose a little—just a little—too retrousse," I murmured.

Eh?" shutting it with an angry snap

But, however, this is not the lady who was occupied here on Saturday night That is one point clear Mr Ford Now who would profit by the destruction of this will' Is any earlier one in existence?'

Yes. There is a former will discovered in the Sergeant s desk at home It was made before Olive—I mean Miss Greathead—came to live with him"

Its date?"

January, 1879"

Well?"

It leaves two-thirds of the estate to the cousin who then kept house for him"

A tall, pale, dark eyed woman, decidedly good looking?"

Yes By Jove, I see! She was your visitor, and with instinctive caution gave Olive a name, or rather description' he cried.

And has destroyed the last will?'

I don't know so much about that," he answered, slowly wiping his forehead. She did not burn it here, as you say the fire was out She might keep it to see how things would turn out It gives her £70,000 too"

Ah, does it? Wait a moment Does it really? Well, then, we can get it back by a bold stroke I'm with you in this, Mr. Ford. It gets interesting. The first will, which must be proved if the last be not found, gives the housekeeping cousin two-thirds, about £50 000, say, the latter and missing will gives her £5 000. But suppose one were—only suppose—one were to turn up between the two, giving her nothing, eh?"

No chance!" said the lawyer, "I don't think I quite follow you"

I can explain in two words. You see—"

SKIN HUMORS

Wonderful Cure of a Lad 12 years old, who for 8 years, from the top of his head to his ankles, was One Mass of Scabs.

My son, a lad twelve years of age, was afflicted with the worst form of Eczema for a period of eight years He vitnont was it first from the top of his head to within a few inches of his ankles he was one mass of scabs, which refused to yield to any treatment that was attempted every remedy that was suggested by friends or physicians was tried in vain Allopathy, homeopathy, herbs, roots, salt water baths, flaxseed poultices, soaps, ointments, and in short everything that could be done to eradicate the disorder seemed only to aggravate it, and the child's life became a burden to him, and the expense of the various experiments—as a constant drain upon our resources

My wife, reading the advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in one of the daily papers, resolved to make one more attempt at a cure (The disease was now encroaching upon his face, and seemed incurable) I gave a reluctant consent to the purchase, and an interview was sought with a famous lady physician of New York, who made a most thorough examination of the case, and promised a cure without the least hesitation by the use of your Cuticura Remedies. In ONE WEEK there was a marked change; the raw and angry sores began to grow pale and along the outer edges sealed off and in three weeks they began to disappear entirely, until at the present writing the only vestige is one small spot upon the forearm, scarcely visible and fast disappearing

Three after eight years of expense and anxiety, we have the intense satisfaction of seeing the child's skin as fair and smooth as it was before this dreadful humor and disorder attacked him

Sincerely yours,
CHAS. EAYRE HINKLE.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

No. 8 8th St, New York, May 30, 1882

MESSRS J C AYER & Co Gentlemen

Last winter I was troubled with almost constant catarrhal affection, affecting my throat, and frequently my limbs which ached so intolerably at night and so wrenched my tensely that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them I was also a sufferer from a severe and distressing cough, my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the aches and pains left my limbs, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent I am stronger and can stand more exposure and fatigue than I could for years, and attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever discovered I took it in small doses three times a day and used in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good

Yours respectfully Z P WILDS

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality

Songs Never Sung.

"How does that verse run? Something like this, isn't it?

"There are who touch the magic strings,
And noisy fame is proud to win them;
Alas! for those who never sing,
But die with all their music in them"

"Yes, "that's beautiful, pathetic and true," said your representative "The poet alludes to people who are somehow suppressed, and never get their full allowance of joy and air. Which reminds me of a letter shown me the other day by BROOK & Co, of New York, signed by Mr. E. C. Williams, of Chapman, Snyder Co., Pa., a prominent business man of that place. He writes:

"I have suffered with asthma for over forty years, and had a terrible attack in December and January, 1882 I hardly know what prompted me to take PARKER'S TONIC. I did so, and the first day I took four doses. The effect astonished me. That night I slept as if nothing was the matter with me, and have ever since. I have had colds since, but no asthma. My breathing is now as perfect as if I had never known that disease. If you know of any one who has asthma, tell him in my name that PARKER'S TONIC will cure it—even after forty years. There was a man who escaped the fate of those whom the poet laments.

The preparation, which has heretofore been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be advertised and sold by its full name of PARKER'S TONIC. Inasmuch as ginger is really an inferior, ingredient, and is superseded in dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior articles when they call for ginger, we deem the misleading word unnecessary, however, in the medicine itself, and will hereafter call it simply PARKER'S TONIC. Each bottle, of dollars, wrapped under the name of PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, contains the genuine article as of the familiar signature of BROOK & Co. at the bottom of the outside wrapper.
